THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

'Special Effort' Needed

Washington, Oct. 18.—OUT to launch his $11,000,000, Victory loan, Secretary of the Treasury Vinson makes a plea to banks and insurance companies to restrain themselves so that at least $4,000,000,000 of this loan will be taken by individual citizens. Limitations on the participation of the commercial investors and speculators will be imposed, idea is to have this pre-empt the loan of "the common

HIS Mr. Truman concurs. It is, he says, the soundest of national policy. The more individuals who take the bonds the better it is for the country. The President and Mr. Vinson are to be commended for a special effort to put these Government securities into the hands of "little fellows." However, this is the time to remind them that special effort lays upon these men a very special obligation.

SPECIAL effort on the part of the Administration to sell bonds to individuals must be accompanied by a very special effort to make bonds safe beyond all possible doubt. This is not to say that the bonds are not still the best investment in the world—because they are. It is to say that full responsibility rests upon Mr. Truman and Mr. Vinson to see that that safety is not decreased. It is to say that if by reason of their failure to do everything possible to insure the safety that safety should be even slightly impaired, Mr. Truman and Mr. Vinson would be the two most execrated and despised men in the country—and it would be their responsibility to the safety of Government securities has rested upon all Presidents and Treasury Secretaries. But use of the unprecedented size of the debt and deficits, the reliability of Mr. Truman and Mr. Vinson is heavier and clearer than that of their predecessors. So far, they have given evidence of a complete realization of these facts. Bonds can be maintained without exerting themselves to the limit in the two directions—essential safety—taxation and econ-have no right to make that claim and they have no right to claim from the special effort. First, the matter of taxes. Mr. Vinson has said that the

30 MILLION IN DIAMONDS SEIZED IN TOKYO'S MITSUI TRUST COMPANY BY THE AMERICAN OCCUPATION FORCES

Nine Thermos Bottles Filled with Precious Stones Found in Safety Deposit Box of Koeki Eiden, Japanese Government Export-Import Control Agency.

By John R. Henry

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, Oct. 18.—(INS)—Thirty million dollars worth of diamonds in the vaults of the Mitsui Trust Company in Tokyo were seized today by American occupation forces.

Nine thermos bottles filled with precious stones were found in the safety deposit box of Koeki Eiden, Japanese government export-import control agency.

Officials of the government bureau had listed the gems as sundry goods among its assets when reporting its inventory to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's economic and scientific section, headed by Col. R. C. Kramer.

Another package of diamonds weighing eight thousand carats was discovered earlier in a vault where precious metal reserves had been seized by Kramer's investigators.

A new step toward wider distribution of Japan's wealth was taken today with the disclosure that the heads of the Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo and Yasuda companies had decided to offer all the stock of the four great concerns at public sale.

The newspaper Yomiuri Hochi expressed dissatisfaction with the plan and urged state ownership of the powerful industrial combines.

The dissolution of totalitarian business enterprises, Prince Fumimaro Konoye pointed out at a news conference, is one of Emperor Hirohito's obligations in discharging the terms of the Potsdam declaration.

Konoye said the Emperor "has a grave responsibility for the faithful execution of the terms of the declaration" and cannot leave the throne until he has complied with the Tri-Power directive.

"On the other hand," Konoye declared, "His Majesty is watching the trend of American public opinion regarding this issue (of abdication) with great concern."

While there was no indication what use Koeki Eiden intended to make of his wealth in diamonds, company officials explained the gems had been bought from Japanese civilians in Japan and China.

They were purchased with paper currency totalling 130 million yen at a price averaging one thousand yen per carat.

An additional thirty-three thousand carats were reported to be lying in Mitsui Company vaults at Osaka.

All the precious stones will be placed in the vaults of the Bank of Japan pending a decision regarding their disposal.

Red Cross Plans To Continue Its Work

The regular meeting of the Bristol Branch, American Red Cross was held on Monday afternoon at 120 Mill street.

Although some of the services so stressed during the anxious war days, such as surgical dressings and blood donor services, have been discontinued, still there are other services, always of vital importance to a community, that are now coming to the fore and will be of first importance from now on.

Among these are Junior Red Cross, Accident Prevention, Nutrition, etc.

The Red Cross slogan that has been displayed since V-E and V-J days, "Our Labors Continue, Our Hearts Alone Are Lighter," expresses very well the continued service of Red Cross.

Tokyo.—The Japanese Finance Ministry disclosed today that it plans to introduce a bill at the next Diet session calling for drastic revisions of the policies of the Bank of Japan.

Doylestown Man Meets Instant Death

Doylestown.—Frank Wintzen, 24, S. Hamilton street, was instantly killed at eight o'clock this morning at the intersection of Swamp and Dark Hollow Roads, Buckingham Twp., three miles south of Furlong. Wintzen, driver of a milk truck for Gardenville Farms Dairies, here, was proceeding south on Swamp Road, and was said to be making a right turn into Dark Hollow Road, when his vehicle was hit from the rear by a large truck on which a bulldozer was being hauled. The truck was operated by W. Arnold Blythe, 31, Doylestown contractor. Blythe informed state police here that Wintzen, who was proceeding ahead of him, pulled to the left of the thoroughfare as if intending to stop on the left side of the road, then suddenly pulled to the right and started into Dark Hollow Rd. The front of Blythe's truck struck the right rear of the milk truck and forced it into a truck parked on Dark Hollow Road. The load of milk containers was shifted and the milk truck overturned on Wintzen as he either jumped or was thrown from the vehicle. Blythe, attaching a log chain to the milk truck, proceeded to pull it upright, but Wintzen was pronounced dead by a Wycombe physician. His skull was fractured. Bucks Co. Coroner J. Alfred Rigby, Cornwells Heights, was summoned.

Blythe was charged with involuntary manslaughter. The dead man is survived by his wife, Emma, and a daughter Elaine, aged six.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE BRISTOL ELECTION

Question: What is the Bristol Borough tax rate?

Answer: The general purpose tax is 11 mills.

Question: Is that high or low?

Answer: More Boroughs of Bristol's size in Pennsylvania charge a higher rate than charge less. For example, Columbia and Latrobe charge 15; Warren, Darby and Steelton, 16; Mahanoy City, Canonsburg and Charleroi, 17; Old Forge, 18; and Dickson City and Conshohocken, 20.

Question: Do any charge less?

Answer: A few. However, most of these charge so much higher an assessment rate that the actual taxes are higher.

Question: What is the Bristol assessment rate?

Answer: It is 40 per cent of the true value. Some examples of Boroughs with low tax rates but high assessments are: Ellwood City, 11 mills, assessment rate, 70 per cent; Indiana, 10.5 mills, 60 per cent; Munhall, 10 mills, 70 per cent; Tamaqua, 10 mills, 75 per cent. It will be noticed that the high assessments in these communities mean actual taxes on similar properties are higher than in Bristol, although the millage rate by itself appears less.

Question: Has the tax rate in Bristol been going up or down?

Answer: Down. It is almost one third less than twelve years ago. In 1933 the old rate of 14 mills was cut to 13.5; in 1937 to 13 mills; and in 1941 to the present 11 mills. In addition, the assessment rate was cut 10 per cent in 1934.

Question: Has the Borough been spending less money?

Answer: No. Actually, it's expenditures have risen.

Question: Then how could taxes be cut?

Answer: As a result of sound business practices under the Republican administrations. Improved methods of tax collecting have greatly reduced losses through delinquencies. As the bonded debt has been reduced, carrying charges also have fallen. Further, the Water Works, which once was a burden on the Borough government, has been made self-supporting and has even shown a good profit.

Question: How does the water works help the tax rate?

Answer: Because approximately $25,000 a year of water works profits are being turned over to the Borough's general fund. This is money which the Borough government needs, and which would have to be collected in taxes if not earned by the water plant.

Question: Does the real estate tax rate have any effect on the man who doesn't own his own home, but who rents?

Answer: Of course. Taxes are part of the overhead of rented property, and if they are high the rent has to be large enough to cover them. Low taxes mean low rentals.

Question: Does the tax rate have any other effect on the community?

Answer: Low taxes mean more jobs. Business concerns naturally prefer to set themselves up where rates are low. There is a constant trend for industrial concerns to move out of communities where tax rates are rising, and to try to find new locations where they are low. Keeping the tax rate down pays dividends to everyone who lives or works in the community.

FATHERS DISCUSS SCHOOL IMPROVEMENTS

Athletic Programs for Year Are Outlined For Members

HOP ADVANCEMENTS

Topics of interest to every parent of a school-age child were discussed last evening at the meeting of Bristol Fathers' Association in the high school cafeteria.

Paul Brown, of the faculty, presented Warren P. Snyder, superintendent of Bristol public schools; Charles Utz, faculty manager of athletics; and two men members of the high school faculty, John Schwartz and Richard Schirm, woodworking and shop instructors.

Mr. Snyder used as his topic "How Bristol Schools Came Out of the War Period," and gave an enlightening talk on the problems which had arisen during this time. One of the items which Mr. Snyder mentioned was the new legislation which has recently been passed favoring teachers. In spite of the difficulties prevailing during the war period, Mr. Snyder feels that Bristol schools have gained in their replacement of teachers, and that the calibre of the present teaching staff is higher than before the war.

The new health program outlined by the speaker calls for extensive medical and dental examinations for pupils during their school career. These examinations are to point out physical defects and deficiencies to the parents for correction. Mr. Snyder made it clear that no actual work will be done by the schools.

Another point of interest was the plan to add kindergarten classes to the public school system in the near future. "This will be done," said Mr. Snyder, "as soon as the physical space, specialized equipment and instructors can be obtained." He stated he has high hopes for the future.

Small boys, early last evening, set cardboard cartons afire in the storage sheds of Elwood Dyer's milk dairy, located between Jefferson avenue and Lafayette street.

The blazing cartons were discovered by Warren Talbot, who resides nearby and he sent in an alarm.

Firemen quickly responded and the fire was soon extinguished.

The blaze was in a dangerous location as there are many buildings nearby including stables and garages and a very serious fire might have resulted.

Mr. Talbot saw the boys climb over a nearby fence.

SUP'T BOEHM SPEAKS TO HULMEVILLE P. T. A.

Sup't and N. P. Larson Explain Advantages Under Proposed Bond Issue

FOR JOINT JR.-SR. HIGH

HULMEVILLE, Oct. 18.—A future rise in the school tax rate of three mills was indicated for Hulmeville borough if a bond issue on November 6th fails to secure public approval. It was disclosed at the meeting of Hulmeville-Middletown Parent-Teacher Association last evening.

County Superintendent of Schools Charles H. Boehm, a member of Hulmeville school board, N. P. Larson, spoke on the possible solutions for Hulmeville's financial problems, at the P. T. A. meeting last evening in the school house.

It was disclosed that the new legislation will make it possible for the seventh and eighth grades to be educated at a joint high school at Langhorne for less than half of what it would cost to continue these grades in the already overcrowded elementary building at Hulmeville. If the bond issue is passed and the new joint high school is developed, Hulmeville will be able to save on more than 1½ mills on the tax rate after the cost of the bond issue has been paid. This reserve of 1½ mills will be needed in the next five years to observe the increased cost in grades one to six.

A new development resulted from a situation growing out of the overcrowded elementary building at Hulmeville. It has just been disclosed that if the seventh and eighth grades remain in Hulmeville, the Hulmeville board will be responsible for a far greater share in the cost of the operation of the building.

"If Hulmeville becomes a member of the joint board it will have an equal share in the ownership and operation of the new junior high school, but will be liable only for the current expenses in proportion to the number of students from Hulmeville attending the joint school," members of the P. T. A. were informed.

Mr. Boehm was introduced by Mr. Larson after the meeting had been opened by the president, Ned Moyer. A number of questions were asked in regard to the proposed improvements that will be made should the bond issue of $13,000 be approved. Mr. Larson outlined the advantages to be gained if the board is granted permission to borrow that amount. He informed that unless grades seven and eight are sent to the joint school at Langhorne, the board will be responsible for the cost of the operation of the building.

PEACETIME DEFENSES

Reports that the Army Air Forces are planning a peacetime force of 6,500 planes and 600,000 men offer the country only a glimpse of its future program—but a most revealing one. At this rate the Air Force alone would be three times the size of the entire pre-war Army. Combined with the enormously expanded fleet which the Navy wants to keep and the call for a considerably larger regular Army, this adds up to a peacetime military establishment far greater than anything that has been dreamed of in the past.

This country's need for a permanent, powerful air force does not have to be argued. Air fleets have joined sea fleets in the first line of defense. The United States will never again make the mistake of starving its air arm as it did before World War II. An air force capable of coping with any potential foe is as essential to peace and security today as a strong Navy has been in the past.

But neither Congress nor the country can safely disregard the enormous drain on the Federal Treasury which all these proposals for expanding peacetime defenses entail. The United States, wealthy as it is, cannot afford to throw money away.
There is a limit to the money which can be expended on planes and battleships and armies.

In matters like these it is never easy to decide what is needless extravagance and what is essential to security. But it is up to Congress to weigh these programs carefully and to strike a middle road.

TOO SIMPLE

Some Washington luminaries have been talking about increasing wages 50 per cent in the next five years, while prices generally were to remain stationary. The argument is over-simplified. It is pointed out that wages in 1944 were 47 per cent higher than in 1919 but that the cost of living was virtually the same as in the earlier year. The moral is advanced that wages can advance consistently without disturbing prices and profits.

If wages increased at the rate of 10 per cent a year for five years and prices remained stationary, there would be a 10 per cent increase in the standard of living each year—that is, if full production and full employment prevailed. Nothing like that has ever happened in America or in any other country.

During this nation's greatest period of prosperity—1919 to 1929—the standard of living advanced only 2.5 per cent per year.
Advancing wages inevitably are reflected in advancing costs and prices. The one cancels the other.
It is only as production increases that the standard of living grows better, and constant wage disputes are not a stimulant to production.

And, if it did not entail economic bankruptcy, a program of putting wages up and keeping prices down would require a gigantic peacetime OPA. If Congress permits the OPA to exist beyond next June, no one will be more amazed than the boys and girls on the OPA payroll.

The Great Game of Politics

Vinson is urging (and Mr. Truman supporting) a tax reduction bill which has some conceded good features, but some which clearly cannot be reconciled with the "special effort" obligation which rests on them. For one thing, it reduces Government revenues too much, for another, its reductions come too soon; for a third, it eliminates altogether some 12,000,000 individuals as taxpayers, thus narrowing the base and weakening the whole tax structure. It is not easy to fit this in with a sound, nonpolitical tax policy or a "special effort" to buttress Government credit.

TAKE next the vital business of retrenchment. The Federal Government is swollen to enormous size and is operated at staggering cost. Waste is greater than can well be described. Everybody knows this but not enough people seem to care—particularly those who can do something about it. True, the President has asked Congress for power to reorganize the Federal machine, but in the meantime, though the war has been over for months, the decrease in the civilian pay rolls is trifling—and in some cases there have been large increases. A number of war agencies have been "liquidated," but the employees on their pay roll have not been dropped—they have merely been transferred to another department. The latest figures of civilian jobholders show that on August 1 the total was 3,554,920, but on September 1 it had been increased to 3,649,569, as shown in the recent report presented to the Senate by Senator Byrd. The point is that, despite the Truman plan to reorganize the machine, he has taken no effective steps to reduce its size and cost in the six months he has been in the presidency. And the only big Government expenses curtailed are those due to the cessation of war which were automatic and required little effort.

IN BRIEF, no "special effort" to save money has been made. On the contrary, both Mr. Truman and Mr.
Vinson strongly supported the original so-called "full employment" bill, which would have opened wide the door for further vast public expenditures upon the discredited theory that we can spend our way into posterity. A better means of shaking faith in the safety of Government securities hardly could be found. Of course, this obligation for "special effort" rests upon Congress as well as upon the President and Mr. Vinson.

But it rests most heavily upon them because theirs is the duty of subplying the leadership. Both Mr.
Truman and Mr. Vinson are upright, well-meaning men. There is nothing the least sinister about either. It does seem, however, that they have not fully grasped their more profitable than exempting "special effort" obligation. The

Don't Miss This Fascinating FREE DEMONSTRATION

On Monday and Tuesday, October 22 and 23, a factory expert will be in our store ALL DAY LONG. He will actually demonstrate (without charge to the general public) one of the most amazing pieces of equipment we have ever seen—a $34.50 portable electric welding machine that works right from your house current like a radio—yet is capable of jobs that "stump" the most expensive outfits! It can weld everything from an automobile bumper to a cast aluminum motor bracket—in fact, EVERY METAL KNOWN TO SCIENCE! If you bring some broken part along with you, he'll weld it right in front of your eyes, without charge, as part of the demonstration.

It is a "boon" to the professional welder because of the time and money it will save! It's a "godsend" to the amateur, because it takes little or no skill to operate!

There's no obligation to buy (but we're lucky enough to have them in stock, WITHOUT PRIORITY, if you want to take one home with you).

SPECIAL ON THE DEMONSTRATION DAY! Bring this ad with you and receive a COMPLIMENTARY INSTRUCTION MAN-UAL on "How to weld, braze and solder all metals," a splendidly written booklet for any craftsman to own!

REMEMBER THE DATE! DON'T MISS IT!
